General Announcements:

June is Pride Month!

Why are there different Pride Flags?

The Bisexual Flag: Designed in 1998 by Michael Page, this flag blends pink and blue the way bisexual people can blend into the straight and gay communities.

What is Pride Month? - Pride Month is a month dedicated to LGBTQ2S people; an opportunity to celebrate culture and history, observe how far acceptance has come, and continue to advocate for equality, freedom, and access to gender affirming health care. Pride is part political activism and part celebration.

Mother of Pride - Brenda Howard was an American bisexual activist, who organized a one month anniversary for the Stonewall Riots in July of 1969, followed by the first Gay Pride Week, complete with parade, in New York in 1970. Throughout her life, Brenda was a vocal activist for many different causes regarding sexuality and race, fighting for anyone who needed her strength. She passed away from colon cancer during the 35th anniversary of Stonewall, June 28, 2005.
